Oscar Wilde
Retold by John Escott

Christine Lindop

There has been a ghost in the house for three hundred years, and Lord Canterville's family have had enough of it. So Lord Canterville sells his grand old house to an American family. Mr Hiram B. Otis is happy to buy the house and the ghost because of course Americans don't believe in ghosts. The Canterville ghost has great plans to frighten the life out of the Otis family. But Americans don't frighten easily – especially not two noisy little boys ...

What do you find in these two fascinating countries? One is an enormous island where only twenty million people live and the other is two long, narrow islands, with ten sheep for every person. One has the biggest rock in the world, and a town where everybody lives under the ground; the other has a beach where you can sit beside the sea in a pool of hot water, and lakes that are bright yellow, green and blue. Open this book and start your journey.

H. E. Bates
Retold by Rosemary Border

A warm summer night. The moon shines down on the quiet houses and gardens. Everyone is asleep. Everyone except the man in pyjamas and slippers, standing on the wet grass at the end of his garden, watching and waiting ... In these three short stories, H. E. Bates presents ordinary people like you and me. But as we get to know them better, we see that their feelings and experiences are not at all ordinary. Could these happen to you and me?

The USA in the 1950s and 60s was a troubled place. Black people were angry, because they did not have the same rights as whites. It was a time of angry words, of marches, of protests, a time of bombs and killings. But above the angry noise came the voice of one man, a man of peace. This is the story of an extraordinary man, who changed American history in this short life.
